

SCHLEY TO TELL HIS OWN STORY

Testimony He Will Present Promises To Be Very Sensational

IS ON LOOP ORDER

The Admiral Is Expected to Clearly Represent Famous Retrograde Movement.

PRECEPTS WIPED OUT

Washington, Oct. 14.—Within a few days Admiral Schley will take the witness stand in his own behalf and it is expected that he will have some interesting disclosures to make. During the three years of controversy he has been silent. When he becomes a witness his personal explanation of matters under discussion will for the first time become public. How far the court will allow him to go, if it insists Sampson must be brought into the case, it is impossible to say. As the applicant, however, and his reputation at stake it is probable that he will be granted wide latitude.

Capt. Cook who has been summoned by Schley will be the most important witness in the case. He it is said, will assume the responsibility for the loop. One point in his evidence which is against Schley is the fact that he objected to a retrograde movement. It is now practically settled that Sampson will not be called.

Sensational Testimony
Much of the testimony that will be brought out by Admiral Schley's counsel will be sensational. One thing that will be proved conclusively is that Captain Cook of the Brooklyn and not Admiral Schley gave the order for the loop which that cruiser made at the beginning of the battle of Santiago. Another thing that will be proved is that the Battleship Texas did not stop and back her engines to escape the Brooklyn, as Lieut. Commander Hellner testified. The evidence that will be introduced to sustain Admiral Schley's contention that the Texas was not interfered with comes from the highest possible source of information.

Few Points Not Decided
The closing of Lemly's case calls attention to the evidence that has been introduced against Schley during the last month and makes it clear that, with the possible exception of the retrograde movement, not a single paragraph of the department's precept remains unanswered.

The remainder of the precept has been completely wiped out. The alleged delay at Cienfuegos, the blockade at Santiago, the passage from Cienfuegos to Santiago, the Brooklyn's loop and the admiral's conduct during the battle of Santiago—these things have all been satisfactorily explained.

Capt. Cook on the Stand
Capt. Cook was the first witness called by Lemly this morning. Cook is a witness for both sides. He testified that the first information regarding Cervera was received on May 19th when it was reported that he had left Cadiz for the Canaries. He said it was for the purpose to intercept the Spanish fleet flying squadron was sent to Cienfuegos. Schley was told by the commander of one of the scout ships, that it was believed there were coaling facilities south of Cuba but he (Cook) didn't think favorably of Cape Cruz, the place mentioned. The blockade of Cienfuegos was instituted from the moment the flying squadron arrived there May 23. Schley was confident he had Cervera.

E. J. Samuels, agent for the C. M. & St. P. at Darlington was in the city this morning.

MEETS PAT CROWE'S DEMANDS.

Chief of Omaha Police Answers a Letter From the Fugitive.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 14.—Two further communications regarding the surrender of Pat Crowe were received here by Chief of Police Donahue, removing all doubt as to whether the negotiations had really been opened by the fugitive. The more important letter was signed by Crowe, and had been mailed at Manchester, Iowa, the home of the missing man's uncle. The second was from the uncle, who is employed in the hardware business in Manchester, and both reiterated Crowe's desire to leave his hiding place and face the charges against him. The letter from Crowe is a rambling epistle occupying fifteen pages. It was in Crowe's peculiar style, reviving the South African war, the kidnapping case, and finally offering to surrender if the rewards were withdrawn. Chief Donahue is convinced that the letter is genuine. His answer was a concession to all of Crowe's demands.

GOLD SHIP A WRECK.

Steamer Hating, with 175 Alaska Prospectors on Board, Is Aground.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 14.—The steamer Hating, master ship to the Islander of the Canadian Pacific line of Skagway steamers, was wrecked at 2 o'clock p. m. on the end of Jarvis Island, forty-nine miles north from Vancouver, and will be a total loss. She had 175 passengers from the Klondike aboard, and all are safely landed on Lasqueti Island. A big hole has been discovered in the steamer's bottom, and her stern is seven feet under water. Upon his arrival here, Pilot Guns said that the Hating was fast on the rocks, and is greatly damaged. She went aground at low tide and he expected that when the tide came in she would be entirely submerged.

Situation at Tampa Critical
Tampa, Fla., Oct. 14.—The labor situation here is critical and is growing worse. The arrival of United States District Attorney to investigate the deportation of labor leaders encouraged the striking cigar makers, who believe the government will intervene. The more ignorant are being told that Italy and other powers will order a bombardment of Tampa if the cigarmakers are again molested.

LANSING WARREN DIED IN MILWAUKEE

Well Known Newspaper Man Dies in Milwaukee from Typhoid Fever—Had Successful Career.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Lansing Warren, editor and publisher of the Milwaukee Sentinel, died yesterday of typhoid fever. Mr. Warren was taken ill about three weeks ago, having contracted a cold while in the East on a business trip. Upon returning to Milwaukee the cold developed into typhoid fever. While Mr. Warren's condition had been pronounced critical at different times during his illness his physicians and friends never doubted his recovery.

Lansing Warren had been actively engaged in newspaper work for more than twenty years and previous to his connection with the Sentinel was business manager of the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Mr. Warren was graduated from Princeton in 1880, and in that year went to work on the Inter Ocean. After eighteen months of service he was compelled to go abroad owing to ill health. He spent considerable time in Australia returning to Chicago, where he accepted a position on the Daily News. In 1884 he was offered the position of financial editor of the Inter Ocean, and served in that capacity until the fall of 1891. He then went to Denver and filed the place of city editor of the Evening Times until the fall of 1896 when he came back to Chicago. Two years later he was made managing editor of the Inter Ocean, serving in this capacity until August of last year when he was made business manager.

Mr. Warren was a son-in-law of Judge Blodgett, the well-known Chicago jurist.

BELOIT WILL PLAY MILWAUKEE MEDICS

Milwaukee, Oct. 14.—Milwaukee lovers of the gridiron game will have another opportunity to see the Beloit eleven win or go down to defeat on Thanksgiving day, on which day it will play the Milwaukee Medics. Arrangements for the game were made Saturday afternoon, immediately following the overwhelming victory of the university team over the Beloit boys. The contract was signed by both managers.

The contest will certainly be close and productive of good sport, as the teams are pretty evenly matched. It is the first time Beloit has had an opportunity of meeting an eleven of her own class in Milwaukee, and she will make it a battle royal to atone for the stunning defeat administered by the Wisconsin aggregation.

Miss Stone's Abduction

COW ELOPES WITH BULL MOOSE

Pair Have Succeeded in Concealing Themselves

Bangor, Me., Oct. 14.—The strange story of the elopement of an ordinary milch cow with a bull moose comes from Lake Umbagog, a pretty sheet of water in the hills of Piscataquis county, much frequented by sportsmen from the big cities. The cow was the property of A. T. Sanden of New York, whose farm is located on the shore of Umbagog, and she was kept in a pasture enclosed by a rail fence. A big moose had been several times seen hanging around the cottage grounds late at night, displaying great boldness. Last Thursday night he came up close to where the cow was, and the two seemed to be great friends. Late at night a tremendous crash was heard, and the next morning the fence was down and the cow gone. Neither she nor the moose has been seen since.

OPEN LETTER TO ROOSEVELT.

A Special Correspondent Predicts Ultimate Triumph of Dutch Republics.

New York, Oct. 14.—An open letter addressed to President Roosevelt appears in the Amsterdam Handelsblad, says the Brussels correspondent of the Times. It is written by Charles Bois-seval, who is well known in England as an ardent Boer champion, and who addressed a similar letter to the duke of Devonshire a year ago. The new letter includes a historical retrospect of British crimes and cruelties, and says Great Britain is now filling the role she has invariably played in the past. M. Boisseval declares that Great Britain has neither the moral courage to offer favorable terms to the Boers nor the soldiers to overwhelm them. He concluded: "May the splendid ultimate triumph of the Dutch race in South Africa be forwarded by the sympathy of that American nation whose triumph had the ardent wishes of Holland. The ultimate triumph of the Dutch republics will be a victory for law and order and righteousness."

Supplied with British Rifles.

Dr. Leyds, in an interview with a correspondent of the Paris Eclair, quoted in a dispatch to the Times from Paris, says the British have kindly provided the Boers with rifles, ammunition, horses and food. He declares that thousands of Afrikaners have been driven to take the field by British informers, and adds that a series of decisive successes on the part of the Boers in Cape Colony is expected. Dr. Leyds says the Boers have buried nearly all their own rifles and will not dig them up again until the British supply falls short.

Oil Is Struck Near Elgin.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 14.—At a depth of 300 feet oil was struck near South Elgin in what is thought to be paying quantities. The strike was made on the farm of Arthur Gulick, who lives in this city. Gulick is a retired farmer and recently commenced the drilling of an artesian well on his farm, which is one of the most valuable in Kane county. When the drill had reached a depth of 300 feet there was a slight gurgling sound and oil was discovered coming from the mouth of the well. Samples of the product have been taken and will be sent to Chicago for examination.

Killed Under Elevated Train.

BALLOON SAILS OVER THE SEA

Frenchman Crossing the Mediterranean Sea in an Air Ship.

SEEN BY STEAMER

Was Fifty Miles from Land and Reported To Be Making Rapid Progress.

LANDED IN ALGERIA

Paris, Oct. 14.—Count De La Vaux balloon is reported as having been seen this morning at Algiers. The count started from Toulon to cross the Mediterranean last Saturday.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Comte de la Vaux the aeronaut, is attempting to cross the Mediterranean in a balloon, the idea being to demonstrate the value of this method of communication with Algeria and Corsica in time of war. The count, with three companions, departed from Les Sables, a point near Toulon, Sunday. The weather conditions were favorable and a cruiser and yacht conveyed the airship. At 8 o'clock Sunday evening a carrier pigeon, released by Comte de la Vaux, brought the news that the balloon was being driven by a north-northeast wind, the weather was fine and all on board were well.

Lighted by a Steamer.

Additional information was brought to Marseilles by a steamer which sighted the balloon fifty miles out. The commander spoke the balloon and was informed that all was going well. The balloon was then shaping its course for Algeria and proceeding rapidly. The car was about sixty feet above the water and the conveyors were close at hand. The experiment of Count Vaux is watched with deep interest. When he first conceived the idea the government entered into the plan with considerable enthusiasm. Subsequently, however, the minister of marine practically abandoned the project and withdrew his promise of a cruiser and inflating apparatus. Then followed two accidents that required the building of a new balloon. The damage was repaired; however, the minister of marine again won over. He ordered the second-class cruiser Du Chayla to accompany the aeronaut and subscribed liberally to the fund for replacing the damaged apparatus.

Expected to Land Wednesday.

Wind and weather favoring, Count Vaux expects to land in Algeria Wednesday night or Thursday morning. He took with him seventy-five carrier pigeons, to be released in bunches of three daily. The airship is supplied with accumulators for electric lamps, and is fitted with an electric pump with which sea water can be drawn up for ballast whenever necessary. It is the plan to maintain the balloon about forty feet above the water by a system of floats. In the event of stormy weather or accident the travelers and apparatus will be taken on board the cruiser and the attempt made at a more favorable time.

BANKERS GATHER IN MILWAUKEE; ANXIOUS TO HEAR SECRETARY GAGE

Noted Financiers To Attend Annual Gathering Which Will Open in the Cream City Tomorrow.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Secretary Gage is expected to be the central figure in the Bankers' convention, which begins its twenty-seventh annual sessions here tomorrow. The first two days, according to the formal programme, are to be given to organization, reports of committees and addresses and discussions on general banking subjects. In these sessions many important suggestions for reforms in currency laws and banking methods will be urged. The resolutions, likewise, which the special committee review, are expected to contain much that will meet with the approval of the delegates.

But the address of the secretary of the treasury on Thursday morning will probably prove to be the feature of the convention. Exactly what propositions or suggestions he will take up is not publicly known. He has communicated the subject of his speech to the executive committee, and these men have decided to make no anticipatory announcement further than to say that Mr. Gage will speak. Considerable interest has been awakened by this secrecy and it may be that action of exceeding importance may result from the discussion, which his talk is supposed to introduce.

President Alvah Towbridge of New York and Secretary J. R. Branch are among the early arrivals and they looked over the details and made slight changes here and there, so as to do all that is possible to make his year's sessions the most successful and memorable in the history of the Bankers' National Association.

This afternoon the members of the executive committee will hold a meeting for the transaction of necessary business before the convention is called to order in the Pabst theater Tuesday morning. Secretary Branch declared that the reports of the various committees dealt largely with routine business, and that no movement of unusual importance was in sight.

CRITICAL SITUATION ON ISTHMUS; PREPARING FOR FINAL STRUGGLE

Both Parties Are Well Armed—Colon and Panama Reported To Be Crowded with Soldiers.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 14.—The steamer arriving from Bocas del Toro brings the news that the Colombian government troops and revolutionists on the Isthmus are preparing for the final struggle. Both sides are getting all the arms and ammunition they need. The German steamer Valencia reached Bocas with the 30,000 Mauser rifles, recently purchased in Europe by Colombia, and a million rounds of ammunition, and a number of other cargoes are expected.

Most of the supplies and munitions of war for the insurgents are going through Costa Rica. The head of the insurgent government is at present at San Jose, the capital of Costa Rica, and is finding little difficulty in getting the guns and ammunition smuggled over the frontier, which is a dense swamp.

The indications are that both sides are tired of the guerilla warfare which has been going on for several months, and are enlisting new men. Colon and Panama are reported crowded with soldiers. The Colombian government has secured an American captain and first officer for the crusier General Pozon, from which they expect good results. The OIA, the vessel seized by the revolutionists in the Changu Mola river, and which caused the government great anxiety has been captured finally having been found in Crawl Cray slightly disabled.

As a result of the defeat of the liberals or revolutionists, at Old Bank some weeks ago, that village, which boasted of its churches and some 1,000 inhabitants, is deserted and without a single inhabitant. The men were killed or taken to Bocas and there imprisoned and the rest of the inhabitants fled into the interior. A number of prisoners have been taken out, tried by drum-head court-martial and shot. Others are taken from time to time and whipped, some of them having received as high as 500 lashes. They are also being worked on the streets of Bocas.

The Colombian government has offered to give any Americans who will settle at Old Bank deeds to any of the confiscated houses they may select, as it is anxious to repopulate the place. The revolutionists are reported strong in the mountains in the interior.

NOTES AND NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

There were two mammoth congregations and two unusually fine services at the Congregational church yesterday. In the morning the members of the Trades Union were the guests of the church and in the evening the chorus choir gave a beautiful service of song on the life of Christ. The seating capacity of the church was taxed to its utmost limit at the evening service and in the morning the congregation was too large to find accommodation on the main floor and the gallery was half filled.

The church was beautifully decorated with great branches of brilliant autumn leaves and bouquets of asters. About two hundred members of the Trades Union were present at the morning service and occupied the center of the church. The opening service and the music was exceptionally fine. The large choir sang two anthems beautifully, the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Mac Dougal. One of the most beautiful numbers was "The Holy City" by Adams in which Mrs. S. B. Lewis sang the solo sweetly and expressively and the children's choir, under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Jeffries, answered with the chorus from the rear gallery. In the final chorus the children's choir and the main choir united and the volume of melody which resulted was impressively effective.

A Practical Sermon

For the subject of his practical and helpful sermon, Rev. Robert C. Denison chose "The Christian Law of Life" his text being in the tenth chapter of Luke and centering in the verse "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself."

One must be struck at once by the simple beauty of this law of life. Christ put His law in a few words and any man with an honest and sincere heart can understand them. Another striking thing about the law is the manner in which it was proved. When the lawyer asked Christ what the law was, Jesus replying asked what he thought about it and the man answered in the words of the text. The law was in his own heart, not something that was forced upon him from the outside. It springs up from within and if man obeys the law it is not because he is forced to but because there is something within his own heart.

The law is impressive because it says so much in so little. It doesn't give the details of life nor pin a man down to a certain thing. It simply tells him to open his heart to the love of God and then he will choose the right things to do. The man who follows this law will be the true man in the church, in the home and in his dealings with his fellow-men.

The law needs no explanation but it may be translated into modern language. It means that man is not to live as though all there was in life was to eat, drink, amass a fortune and have a good time; as though he could not learn something of the great eternal things; as though men were merely insects buzzing against life's pane of glass and when the frosts of old age come they are to drop down and die and that is the end. It means none of these things. It means that we are to live and that God is our Father, that we can go to him, trust him, love him and not be afraid even to go out in death because He is there. Some men say it is hard to find God but any man can find him by days of love and prayer.

The second part of the law does not mean that we are to ignore the evil in men or to be easy in dealing with bad men but it means that we are always to be true, to put ourselves in others' places and deal with them as we would be dealt by. If we are employers we should try to think what kind of an employer we would want and then be that kind of an employer. If laborers, we must think what kind of working men we would want to hire and then be that kind of workers.

This law is the law of life, not a law. It is not one way to live, it is the only way to live. Man will never discover any other way to be truly happy, truly successful or truly great, no matter what his circumstances may be. If he is wealthy he must administer his fortune according to God's law of love.

If he tries to live any other way than in faith toward God and kindness toward his fellowman, his heart will wither up and his life will be narrow, discontented and anxious. What a poor man do with his daily struggle but to fill it with the love of God and enrich it with his content.

What is the best thing a man ever gets in this life? The materialist will say riches with which to satisfy the body. The sensualist will say a good time, the scholar, wisdom; but none are right. The thing that is worth most to the man, be he rich or poor, is clearness of conscience, peace of heart and quiet and rest within himself. The only way to get that peace is to find the great heart of the Father above, and go through the world keeping close to him and turning to him in every emergency. Such peace cannot be bought with money or learned in schools or universities.

Many may say that that is all well enough for a man to say on Sunday the every-day world has another law of life. The world is trying to build on another line and is full of men who care nothing for God's law but are seeking their own gain at the expense of others. That is true, but does the world get on so very well under its law of competition, with its strikes, its anarchists and its murderers? Is it so happy and successful that we want no higher life? Men say the law of love won't work. It is working and men are breaking it every day.

Are the men who follow the law of the world so happy that we want nothing better. Nothing so well proves that there is no other law as to try to live in some other way.

There are many wrong and unjust things in the world and we are inclined to want to stop them all by some law, some change in the constitution and then live happily and peacefully ever after. The change will never come in that way. We can only win it one by one as we ourselves learn to be true to each other and to ourselves through the influence of the law of love. The world will never be bettered by a revolution or sudden uprising but only as man to man learns the true law of love and practices it in daily life. There is no other. It matters not what a man's creed is if he only keeps close to Christ. The only religion is the love of the great God and to be fair, true and kindly to our fellowmen.

Rev. Denison then spoke directly to the members of the Trades Union telling them that the church was glad to welcome them and he was glad to speak to them of the gospel of Christ. His church could not solve the great social problems of the day, but in time of need they could always be sure of the sympathy of the church through its minister. He would always be glad to speak to and for them and while he might not always say the things they would like he would try to tell them the truth. In time of sorrow or trouble they were always welcome to come to the church or to him for he could think of nothing better that could come into his life than that the working men of Janesville should count him their friend.

Even Song Service

The song service in the evening followed the course of Christ through life, the selections being chosen to illustrate his annunciation, his birth, his life, his resurrection and his ascension. Before the musical numbers Rev. Denison read appropriate passages of Scripture, making a very impressive service. The choruses were beautifully rendered by the large chorus choir under the direction of Mrs. A. O. Wilson and with Mrs. F. F. Lewis at the organ.

The annunciation of Christ's coming was given in the chorus "And the Glory of the Lord" from Handel's "Messiah." His birth was told in the songs "There Were Shepherds," by Buck, with the solo part sweetly sung by Mrs. A. O. Wilson and Bethlehem by Bartlett, in which Mrs. Minnie Menzies and Mrs. S. B. Lewis sang exquisite solos and a duet. Illustrating Christ's life Mrs. Lewis sang a solo, "He Was Despised and Rejected of Men" from the "Messiah." The resurrection was illustrated by three songs, the chorus "Christ, the Lord, is Risen" by Shelley, a solo "The Resurrection," also by Shelley, rendered effectively by Supt. H. C. Buell and a solo, "Hosanna," by Granier, which was sung by Miss Cora Anderson in her pleasing style and was one of the best numbers in the service. The last chorus was Gounod's "Unfold Ye Portals," typifying the ascension.

Among the Churches

Yesterday was observed as the annual rally day in the Congregational Church Bible School, and a large number of visitors united with the members of the school in the service. The Y. M. C. ## AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Few announcements have been made regarding coming attractions at the local theater that have created the interest that has the one stating that the Grau Opera Co. has been secured by Manager Myers to play an engagement at the opera house tonight, notwithstanding the quite universal opinion that the organization is regarded as standing at the head of all first-class repertoire opera companies of this country and the opera produced here is among the very best in the operatic line. All of the scenery and elaborate stage effects used in the presentation of "El Capitán" are carried by the company to such a degree to supplying details in each production. Among the artists are Miss Mary Carrington, late prima donna of the Castle Square Opera Co., Bessie Tannerhill, Mamie Scott, Mattie Martz, Mr. Harry Davies, tenor, Robert Dunbar, baritone, Robert Kane, Edward Eagleton and Stanley Field, comedians, a powerful chorus and Grau's orchestra.

The subscription sale of seats for Otis Skinner's brilliant production of "Francesca da Rimini," which is to be seen at the Myers Grand next Monday evening, Oct. 21, will open at the People's Drug store tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Only $1.50 seats will be put on sale at that time and only those people who have signed the subscription list will be permitted to obtain the tickets. The regular sale will open Thursday morning at the same place and at this time all seats not taken by subscribers will be put on sale.

His production is one of the costliest and most magnificent that has ever been brought to this city. The size of the subscription list and the great interest taken in the production indicate that Mr. Skinner will receive the most royal welcome that Janesville people have ever given him. Those who desire good seats will need to secure them early.

Andrew Mack in "Tom Moore" has closed his long run at the Herald-Square theater in New York and has begun his tour of the principal cities of the country, which will carry him to the Pacific coast. Mr. Mack met with success and great encouragement in his first venture as a Broadway star and his return to the Rialto of the metropolis next season will be a welcome event.

"Ben-Hur" at the Illinois theater, in Chicago, is duplicating the marvelous record it made its first season at the Broadway theater in New York. Like at the Broadway theater steady streams of people purchase seats from two box offices from morning till late at night. Last Tuesday evening, the 8th inst., the entire orchestra floor was occupied by the supreme officers of "The Tribe of Ben-Hur" and their families, from Crawfordville, Ind., Gen. Wallace's home.

Mary Manning's second season in "Janice Meredith" has begun most auspiciously. She is now in her second week in the new Colonial theater in Boston. After a brief season in New England she will play through the middle and far west. Monday, Dec. 23rd, she will begin a two weeks' engagement in San Francisco.

Morrison's "Faust," with a new equipment of scenery and electrical effects, has been playing to phenomenal business through New York state this week. Goethe's Faust seems to be as long lived and attractive as Shakespeare's Hamlet among a certain class of theater goers.

RIGHT TIME TO STRIP TOBACCO

The time for stripping tobacco will now shortly be at hand and is eagerly looked forward to by growers, as this will be the last of the work on the tobacco crop for those that sell in bundles. But being the last it is by no means the least. Many a fine crop is badly managed and is made "unmerchantable" by careless taking down and bundling. Before taking down be sure there are no fat stems whatever, as these surely will raise mischief if put in the bundles by causing canker or heating and staining. When the stems are all perfectly cured the tobacco is ready to be taken down. To do this, the grower has to wait a favorable time, that is, a damp, warm temperature. Doors and ventilators should then be open as much as possible, but taking care that no rain will drive on the tobacco, keeping always in mind that the tobacco must be in good order, but under no circumstances wet.

The best way to tell when the tobacco is just right to be taken down gather a handful of top leaves in your hand, press them tightly together, and if they stick together after letting them go, the tobacco is too damp; if they come apart again the tobacco is in good shape to take down, providing the stems are pliable. If these break easily when bent the tobacco is too dry. Sometimes tobacco will become in fine order in one hour, after refusing persistently for days to become so.

Pole sweat tobacco is very hard to dampen. The better the quality of the tobacco the easier will it be to dampen it just right. In a cold rain, it should be taken down rather dry; it will dampen more when warmed up later. As soon as it is in good order, no time should be lost in taking down as much as can be stripped without getting the piles warm. Tobacco on hooks is taken from the laths at once and piled about three feet high, making the piles double, lapping the tips only slightly, and making them as long as wanted, taking care that none of it touches the ground anywhere. This has to be stripped within a day or two to prevent its heating.

Tobacco on stringing laths can be piled on the lath on platforms made of poles in six or seven cornered piles from six to eight feet high, and if neatly done with a hole in center of pile, can be left for weeks if properly covered with cornstalks, which make by far the cheapest and best covering. It is always best to strip tobacco as soon as taken down, for if left in piles it is more or less liable to get damaged by becoming stained by frozen stalks, by the bottom leaves drying out or water getting onto it in some way.

When stripping it is for the benefit of the grower to put the bundles up in a neat way, dropping out all rubbish, having the leaves all straight, as this will help greatly in assorting the crop. By using clean, strong paper, making the bundles all one size, about 12 inches square, weighing about forty pounds, not pressing them too hard, tobacco will easily bring one or two cents per pound more than when put up in a slovenly, slipshod manner, which very often will prevent a sale altogether. After tobacco is banded it is well not to put them more than one deep until it is thoroughly cooled off, when it may be put in compact piles three or four bundles deep and so preventing it from drying or shrinking.

HERAT IS THE KEY TO CENTRAL INDIA

Since the Russians seized Khyber pass it has only been a matter of time and opportunity for the Russian occupation of Herat. The Khyber pass is the point of real strategic value in this region. The Russian railroad from the Caspian to the base of the Pamirs insures Russia's ability to hold this point, or at least to make it a very costly achievement to wrest it from her.

Herat is only about sixty miles south of this railroad. Russia has never seen fit to move in this direction, but if at any time it were necessary to her plans it could be occupied with little trouble.

Great Britain has twice invaded the territory of Afghanistan, but in 1880 Abdul Rahman Khan, a grandson of Dost Mohammed, repulsed the British and formed an independent government whose stability is guaranteed by interlapping treaties with himself by Russia and Great Britain. The inhabitants of the province are almost entirely Moslem. As between Great Britain and Russia the people incline more toward the czar than King Edward.

Herat has been besieged more times than any place in the world. If the sieges are accurately counted the result is fifty-two. It was the capital of Timur. It was fought for by the Mohammedans, by the Persians, by the amirs of Kabul, and there was also an amir of Herat anxious to regain his patrimony. The years when Herat has not been fighting have been rare, and Herat is a very old town.

During the present century it has been unsuccessfully besieged in 1837 and 1838 by the Persians and taken by them in 1856, regained by Dost Mohammed, amir of Kabul, in 1863; lost by him to an amir of Herat and regained by him in 1881 under the late amir, Aburrahman Khan.

HEART DISEASE

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Failure.

Heart troubles, at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way also the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action, hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which may be found at most drug stores and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50 cents. Little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Generally fair tonight; Tuesday warmer.

WHY THIS MYSTERY?

Milwaukee Sentinel: It is impossible at this time to say who is responsible for the air of impenetrable mystery with which the governor of Wisconsin has been enveloped during the past four months. As he has been seriously ill the public will not be inclined to suppose that Governor La Follette has had a hand in this matter. But the fact remains that for many weeks the chief officer of this state has been in absolute seclusion.

When he was first taken ill the news of that fact reached the public through vague rumors that were finally confirmed from the executive office. It was hoped and expected that the indisposition would be of a temporary character only, and the governor and his family were treated with the utmost consideration. Whatever efforts were made to ascertain his real condition were of a character to create criticism, and even when total failure attended these efforts, the disappointment that naturally resulted was not allowed to find expression in complaints. Day after day, week after week and month after month, the mystery that hung about him has been as deep as that which surrounds the person of the most exclusive Oriental potentate. Only on two occasions has his physician seen fit to make a pretense of taking the public into his confidence by issuing bulletins, and each time medical men to whom the bulletins were referred have claimed that the information contained in them was so meager and the statements were so vague that it was impossible to say whether or not the case was a serious one.

Now the news comes from Madison that Governor La Follette has been taken to the farm of his physician, Dr. Fox, where he can secure outdoor exercise. No one save his immediate attendants saw him leave the executive mansion. No one but they knew that such a change was expected or possible. It appears that he has so far recovered that he is permitted to take exercise in the open air, and yet he is spirited away in secret. Old friends and neighbors, political friends and personal supporters are all treated alike. The spirit with which he has been treated by all during his illness is a sufficient guarantee that he would not be imposed upon should his attendants allow him to be seen—should they take the people who elected him to the highest office in the state into their confidence and not force them to depend for information upon the guarded statements of a private secretary and take bulletins of a physician who tells nothing.

It is to be hoped that the announcement that the governor has so far recovered that he is now able to take exercise in the fields will prove to be well founded, and that he will soon be restored to his normal health. He can then, if he feels so disposed, remove the curtain of mystery which his attendants have hung between him and the profane world, and Wisconsin will once more become one of the United States of North America, an Occidental commonwealth with a governor who is neither a tradition nor a sacred memory.

THE WHITE HOUSE.

President Roosevelt is breaking down some honored customs that should have been abolished long ago. There is no longer an executive mansion at his national capital but just the plain, unassuming "White House." The old title is given over to the states, where it properly belongs, and hereafter the house in Washington will be distinctive.

This change, with others that may follow, is not necessarily the emblem of great statesmanship, but it is a refreshing characteristic of the man. Independent in thought and action, possessing originality, and the courage to advance sensible methods in minor details, the same spirit will be manifest in dealing with questions of larger importance.

President Roosevelt will be the president. Impulsive, yet reasonable and open to counsel and advice, he possesses a mind of his own, thoroughly equipped for responsibility and active work.

When a course is thought out and adopted, he will not be easily moved, and the people of the nation will feel no uncertainty about what is to be done next. He will be more than the occupant of the "White House," and the people will honor him as their president, as they have been glad to honor him in other positions of trust.

The Richland Center philanthropist has gone west in search of a cyclone. He should capture the Lord man who bought the Masonic Temple, as a side partner. The pair would be equal to any emergency. Wisconsin appears to be strictly in it, the first gentle zephyrs that come from the Rockies, may revolutionize the state. The private secretary will please take warning.

Senator Depew is about to marry. It is evident that the happy event was in his mind when he declared that he would not do any more talking. If he is as fortunate as was Admiral Dewey the new side of the house will be able to talk enough for the whole family.

Miss Stone, the captive missionary, is not loaded with diamonds and wealth, but she is the representative of a country that is neither bankrupt in money nor determination. Turkey may discover that a day of settlement means more than an idle dream.

The General Electric Co. has gained a foothold in India. The missionaries of that benighted land will also discover that American electricity and enterprise are a valuable adjunct to the gospel light that they are struggling to keep burning.

The tax list shows that Mississippi has 7,000 pistols, when the returns from Kentucky it will be found that every man carries a gun.

It is easy to fight prosperity, but the victory, if won, is without laurels, and there is no crown attached.

The right of way should be accorded to every enterprise and industry that seeks recognition of the city.

Janesville for the city, and Wisconsin for Badgers, is a safe and wholesome motto.

PRESS COMMENT.

Superior Telegram: Emperor William ought to be able to forget some of his troubles now. Six carloads of tobacco has been shipped to his order by a Dane county dealer.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: General Miles, by refusing to make any reply to the accusations on the part of General Alger, secures a new lease on the admiration of the American people. The charges deserve only contempt.

Racine Journal: The many visitors calling upon President Roosevelt go away delighted with their reception and convinced of his good judgment and desire to satisfy the country.

La Crosse Republican and Leader: The Marquette. Idea of supporting both the governor and the senator for a re-nomination and re-election comes rather late from a faction that but a few weeks ago owned the earth.

Milwaukee Journal: Every sort and condition of Wisconsin citizen will be glad to hear that Governor La Follette has so far recovered his health that he and his family went out in the country yesterday to be gone a week or ten days. A southern and eastern trip may follow later.

What Frightened Him.

"Why is it?" asked the good man, "that the church and the missions seem to have no attractions for you?"

Wearily Willie looked at him in surprise.

"Because," he replied, "I have been told that cleanliness is next to Godliness."

Not a Bad Suggestion.

Instead of offering her his arm he had grabbed hers, after the fashion popular in Pcdunk and on South Halsted street. Being a strong young man and anxious to help her, he lifted the high side when she undertook to cross a puddle, and in other ways made her assume a diagonal, lopsided appearance that was extremely distressing.

"Don't you think," she finally inquired in her sweetest tone, "that there would be less danger of my escaping and less annoyance to both of us if you put shackles on me?"

After that he held that she was an unappreciative girl who didn't know what was proper, but she didn't mind, for he no longer "raised" her every time she took a step up or down.

The Absent Minded Man.

The great astronomer rapt in meditation, had collided with a projecting sign and was temporarily dazed. Several pedestrians rushed to his assistance.

"That was a nasty jolt," said one. "Is there anything we can do for you?"

"Yes indeed," answered the astronomer excitedly, as he whirled around two or three times. "Indeed there is. Get my telescope quick. There are some new stars in the heavens."

What She Got.

"Yes," said the disappointed heiress, "I had so much money that I thought I needed a business manager, and so I married."

"And then?" suggested her dear friend.

"Why, then I discovered that, instead of getting a business manager, I had merely acquired a discharging agent."—Chicago Post.

The trial of Caleb Powers, former secretary of state, at Georgetown, Ky., on the charge of complicity in the Goebel murder, was continued for one day because of the absence of witnesses for the defense.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends who so kindly extended their assistance and sympathy during our late sad bereavement.

Especially will we ever remember, with deep gratitude, the esteem in which our son and brother was held by the teachers and classes of the high school, and members of the Athletic association, as expressed in the beautiful floral offerings bestowed. The kindness of his teachers for their many willing offers and assistance; the services of the members of his class, who so kindly acted as bearers; the thoughtfulness of the management in putting our national emblem on the school building at half-mast; the Rev. Mr. Denison for his considerate and comforting remarks; Mr. Crawford and his assistants for the beautiful selections rendered by the male quartet; Mr. Kline for his anxious sympathy and helpfulness; and all others, who, by their kindness and sympathy strove to lighten our crushing sorrow, will ever be remembered with the deepest gratitude and appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. Danford Ayers and Family.

The Philomathian Club

The annual meeting of the Philomathian club was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. D. Dock. The year's work was started in a very enjoyable fashion. Mrs. A. C. Jenkins was elected president for the coming year and Mrs. A. C. Thorpe was chosen vice president. Mrs. H. D. Murdoch will serve the club as secretary and Mrs. F. H. Koebelin as treasurer. The ladies will continue the study of the United States history which proved so interesting and profitable last year.

Saturday's meeting was devoted purely to business and at the close of the meeting Mrs. Murdoch served delicious light refreshments. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. H. S. Johnson when the ladies will begin their historical studies.

Second 5:30 O'clock Tea.

The second 5:30 o'clock tea, given by Mrs. Herbert S. Gilkey and Mrs. Ed. J. Smith at Mrs. Gilkey's home, 168 Garfield avenue, Saturday evening, was in every way as delightful as the party given by them earlier in the week. The mandolin orchestra furnished exquisite music during the serving of the delicious supper, and the hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. W. H. Judd, Mrs. Stanley B. Smith and Mrs. C. P. McLean. In the playing of six-handed euchre, which followed the supper, Mrs. W. T. Vankirk won the first prize and the lucky number prize was captured by Mrs. R. R. Powell.

Wood-Workers' Meeting.

Wood-Workers will elect officers this evening and take in a number of more new candidates. General Organizer Hansen has returned to the city from a trip to Rockford and Beloit, where he was very successful. He completed an organization of wood-workers at Rockford, one at Beloit, and also a carpenters and retail clerks' union at the last named city. Some eighteen or twenty wood-workers signed the charter list at the last meeting, and it is expected that as many more will join this evening. The meeting will be held in Assembly hall, on Milwaukee street.

SPEED OF OCEAN VESSELS.

It Has Been Increasing Steadily During Recent Years.

The best Atlantic running of a German mail steamer is now precisely one and one-half knots an hour swifter than the best run of any British mail steamer. And the best passage of the swiftest British steamer was made more than six years ago, in June, 1895, while the best German steamer run was completed a few days ago. Never before in the history of Atlantic steaming was the swiftest ocean steamer so far ahead of the best sailing under any other flag. The Americans held the field from 1850 to 1855, but their best boat was never more than half a knot swifter than the best of the Cunard line. Then from 1855 to 1869 the Cunard line were the swiftest, but their best was never more than a knot an hour swifter than the best of the German steamers running during those years. From 1869 to 1879 the Inman and the White Star lines held the first place as regards speed, but the Germans were still close behind them. Then from 1879 to 1884 the Gulon line, which might be called half American, held the first place with vessels which were built in Britain, but the Cunard was close upon its best. Then the Cunard got its innings till 1888, when the Inman again came to the front with the swiftest German about a knot behind the best Inman boat. Then the White Star got a turn, and in 1893 the supremacy came once again to the Cunard, and finally in 1897 the Germans triumphed, and have held the post of honor, as far as speed is concerned, ever since. But never till now has the difference between the best German and the best British been as much as a knot and a half an hour.—London Chronicle.

HELD UP THE KING.

And His Reward Was a Silver Watch from Victor Emmanuel.

The test of the fidelity of a sentinel by the "powers that be" has resulted happily in the case of an Italian soldier who "held up" the king. King Victor Emmanuel is fond of making himself personally acquainted with the thoughts and feelings of his soldiers and for testing their courage and fidelity. The other day he was walking alone, dressed in black, in the Quirinal gardens and approached a sentry on guard, who at once presented arms. "You know, then, who I am?" the king asked. "His majesty," was the unhesitating reply. The king smiled and continued his walk, making as though he would pass the guard house. "Your majesty cannot pass this way," said the sentry, resolutely. The king pretended not to hear and walked on. "Without orders from the corporal of the guard, I must not let anyone pass, not even the king!" Victor Emmanuel, pleased and smiling, turned back, saying to the man: "You are right!" The next morning the captain of the Calabrian company, to which the sentry belonged, handed to the soldier a fine silver watch, bearing the arms of the house of Savoy and the words: "To the soldier who knows how to obey orders."

34,000 Worms to the Acre. Naturalists estimate the number of worms in each acre of earth to be 34,000, and they maintain that it is almost impossible to calculate the amount of good done by these creatures.

SUDDEN DEATH OF GEORGE W. TYLER

One of the Most Highly Esteemed
Young Men in This City—
Funeral Tomorrow P. M.

In the strength and vigor of his manhood, George W. Tyler was suddenly called upon to go out into the great unknown, his death occurring yesterday noon at his home, 4 Yuba street. The sad event came so suddenly that it can scarcely be realized by his many friends. Last Thursday Mr. Tyler served on a jury in a municipal court case. That evening he was taken ill and he grew rapidly worse, the trouble proving to be an abscess on the brain. A consultation of physicians was held Saturday but gave no hope of his recovery.

Mr. Tyler was one of the most highly esteemed men in the city. He had resided here all his life, having been born here, January 7, 1863 and being in the thirty-ninth year of his life. For the past fourteen years he had been employed at the factory of the Janesville Carriage company. He was a prominent member of Olive Branch lodge No. 36 A. O. U. W. and served that lodge as its master workman last year. He also belonged to its auxiliary society, Laurel Lodge No. 2, Degree of Honor. He was a man of generous impulses and kindly nature and his friends were legion. He leaves a wife and four children, Willie, Charlie, Nettie and Mabel. He is also survived by an aged father and four sisters, who reside in South Dakota and by one brother, Thomas Tyler, of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. J. T. Henderson officiating. The interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery and the services at the grave will be conducted by the A. O. U. W. and the D. of H. The pall bearers will also be selected from this fraternal order in which the deceased man always took the greatest interest.

Mrs. Emmeline Helmstret Dead
E. B. Helmstret has received the sad news of the death of his mother, Mrs. Emmeline Helmstret, who passed peacefully away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Holmes, in Troy, N. Y., Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Helmstret was eighty-six years of age and was well-known in this city where she resided about fifteen years. There was no illness beyond the gradual weakening of her physical strength and no suffering.

CORNER STONE IS READY TO LETTER

It is Very Handsome, and Will Improve the Looks of That Part of the Building.

Mr. Peter Lutz, foreman for James Rawson & Son, who are building the city hall, has the stone completed and ready for lettering. The name of the mayor will form the top line and the names of the aldermen composing the building committee will follow in the order of the wards that they represent. In one column, and the balance of the council in rotation in the other on the Jackson street face. The contractors and architects' names will appear on the Wall street face.

It is a handsome stone and will improve the looks of the northwest corner very much. The cap stone will have the words city hall on one face and the date 1901 on the other. Mr. James Rawson arrived in the city last Saturday from Iowa and has been looking over the work for the last two days and is much pleased with the progress made so far. He is short of stone masons and could work eight or ten more men than are now employed if he could get them on this part of the work.

The cap stones of the basement wall are all in place on the east side and will be put in place on the south side today or tomorrow.

People who have inspected the building and claim to know what they are talking about say they can see no place where the work could be improved.

SMALL BOYS AROUND THE SWITCH YARD

Keeps Conductors and Trainmen on the Lookout to Prevent Them from Being Killed.

Conductor James Dean of the Milwaukee train that arrives in this city at 10:15 a. m. is making a vigorous protest against a gang of small boys that hang around the switch house on the Northwestern, near the Evansville Cut-Off, east of Jackson street.

Every morning this crowd of boys many of them not more than ten years of age, hang around there and jump on the passing trains. It keeps the conductor and train men busy keeping them off and seeing that none of them are killed.

This morning when the train pulled in several of the boys were in waiting to get on. One small boy, not over eight years of age, grabbed a hand rail and was thrown into the air and it was only by a close shave that he missed going under the wheels. Conductor Dean does not care to have his train kill anyone but he says if they keep on catching on it is only a question of a short time before one of them gets killed.

CHANGES LIKELY IN METHODIST PULPITS

Rev. Mr. Tibbit of Stevens Point May Take Hall's Place—Stevens and Woodside May Go Also.

The Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal churches, now in session at Ripon is liable to make a number of changes in the pastorates of the different churches under its dominion. An effort has been made by the official board of Court Street M. E. church of this city to secure Rev. W. P. Leek of Green Bay, to succeed the Rev. W. A. Hall, who is slated for transfer to Stevens Point. Rev. Leek had only served the Green Bay church two years, however, the church was very anxious for his return and the bishop would not consent to "take him" away from Green Bay and send him to Court Street.

It is almost certain that the Rev. Mr. Tibbit, who has had a four years' successful pastorate at Stevens Point will be appointed to Court Street church. He has been in the conference for several years and is one of its strongest preachers. The Stevens Point church is anxious for his return.

In the general shuffling it is more than possible that Rev. W. W. Stevens, presiding elder of this district, will be appointed pastor of the Fort Atkinson church, although his term of office as presiding elder is only half over. The Fort Atkinson church has been unfortunate in its experiences during the last year and it seems wise to send Rev. Stevens there. He himself is a willing party to the change, naturally preferring the duties of a pastor to those of the presiding eldership.

There are also strong indications that the Rev. W. W. Woodside will not be returned to the First M. E. church but will be made a presiding elder probably either of the Janesville or Oshkosh district.

COMMON COUNCIL TO MEET TONIGHT

Several Matters of Importance Before the Aldermen Will Be Discussed and Adjusted.

There will be a regular meeting of the common council this evening in the council chamber at 7:30 o'clock. Several matters of importance will come up for settlement. One, the question of the legality of the $65,000 bond issue and the other George J. Hurd's application for a franchise to conduct, maintain and operate an electric street railroad in the city of Janesville.

Both of these matters will be taken up and disposed of to the best advantage to the city. The blocking of the bond issue at the last meeting of the council made it necessary for the city to borrow $5,000 to "pay the first installment due the contractors on the city hall job."

The railway franchise is practically the same as those granted to the Beloit, Delavan Lake, and Janesville and to P. L. Spooner. If granted it will give the present street car line the advantage of interurban connections.

Fred Baker Heads the Team

The mixed foursome at golf which was postponed last week on account of the weather will be played tomorrow afternoon on the grounds of the Mississippi golf club. Several handsome prizes have been offered for the winners and a number of players have signified their intention of taking part in the contest. From now on during the balance of the season the bus will only run on Tuesday and Friday afternoons unless there is some special occasion for it. Mr. F. J. Baker is now at the head of the club team. In a recent match for position he defeated Albert Schaller who was at the head 3 up and 2 to play.

The Marshmallow Roast

The young people of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a jolly time in the church basement Saturday evening. A marshmallow roast was the novel entertainment which afforded lots of fun. Plenty of long pointed sticks had been provided and the young people sat on cushions on the floor around the furnace while they toasted the dainties. There was no formal program, but a reading by Miss Margaret Paterson was much enjoyed. The roast was followed by several jolly games and everyone had a good time.

Her Recovery Doubtful.

A surgical operation was performed on Mrs. Whelan at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Eller, 214 North Bluff street, today, the operating surgeon being Dr. J. B. Whiting, Jr., assisted by Dr. J. W. St. John. Owing to Mrs. Whelan's advanced years, her recovery is very unlikely, but the operation offered the only possible chance for saving her life.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF TOM.

BY M. L. RAYNE.

Among the 400 American teachers who went to Manila on the transport Thomas were two Chicago young women, sisters and teachers, Julia and Georgia.

Their cousin Tom, who had been brought up in the same family, was in a measure engaged to both.

Tom, the scapegrace, the ne'er-do-well, who had kept them all on the anxious bench until he enlisted, when Uncle Sam took him by the scruff of the neck, shook him up and gave him such a taste of army discipline that the young man pulled himself together and made a very fair soldier, with occasional doses of guardhouse medicine.

It was after one of those riotous re-leases that in a spirit of penitence Tom had written to his cousins suggesting that they come to Manila at the expense of the government, and incidentally that he wanted a wife to keep him in order, addressing the letter to Georgia.

It was a memorable voyage for those two, who had never in their lives before seen the world outside of the state of Illinois. They were surrounded by a remarkable company of teachers, who had been chosen from the many normal universities of the country, all of whom were strangers to them and to each other before meeting on the transport at San Francisco. Yet it is a matter of history that thirty couples became acquainted, engaged and stopped at Honolulu to be married within a period of ten days. The diversion of these hurried courtships relieved the tedium of the voyage for the little sisters.

When the transport was anchored off the mouth of the Pasig river, awaiting the visit of the American sanitary inspector before steaming up to the wharf in Manila town, the two girls, shy and brown as quails, sat with Tom's last letter open before them, reading directions and laughing over his promise for their future comfort.

"We're to have gowns of pina cloth," said Georgia, reading aloud, with reservations, "and we will ride in a tram car where the conductor blows a horn that sounds like the wail of lost souls."

"And he will take us to ride on a quizee, in which the soldiers go on larks."

"He won't go on larks any more," said Georgia, with decision. "We must make his life so happy that he will find his best entertainment with us."

"Oh," said Julia, referring again to the letter, "he says here that he has engaged a Filipino girl to wait on us. She wears short, picturesque gowns and has a braid of lustrous black hair hanging down her back and can say a few Amerianno words. She is very pretty, but a half caste. We must have her picture taken and send it home. I hope she likes Ameriannos."

"I wonder if Tom is as anxious to see us as we are to see him," said Georgia.

"No, the dear fellow! It would not be natural. We have not been in any danger in the past three years. I have heard teachers are a favorable risk for life insurance, so few of them die."

"Oh, do you think Tom will come on board with the inspector?" Georgia was getting very nervous.

The boat came out with the inspector, but no Tom. He had been ordered, on duty, they said to each other, but it was two lonely little schoolmams that were finally landed in Manila and found no one waiting for them. No—yes, a young man in a uniform of the United States army came running forward from one group to another. When he saw the two little women, he took his hat off.

"You are expecting to meet Tom Downer?" he said haltingly.

"Yes; he is our cousin," answered Julia, who, though the youngest, was the bravest, "and he knows we are coming on this steamer. Oh, do you know him?"

"We belong to the same company, fought side by side and drank from the same canteen. He was my best friend," said the young soldier solemnly.

"Was?" Georgia caught at his use of the past tense. "Has something happened to him? Is he?"

"How can I tell you? Oh, why was this cruel duty put upon me? May I ask which of you was—was—engaged to marry Tom?"

"Both of us," said Georgia, who did not know in the least what she was saying.

"Neither," responded Julia, drawing herself very erect.

"That is well." The young soldier gave a sigh of relief at Julia's stiff denial. "Then you will not be shocked to hear that Tom Downer is—"

"Dead?" Both girls spoke as if one voice and gasped for breath.

"No—married to a native Filipino girl, who has taken him home to her people! I'm awful glad you don't mind it, and since I was Tom's friend I hope you will let me be yours and be of some service to you in his absence."

It was manfully spoken, and the two little, lonely, crushed women followed him mechanically into the new, strange world of the Philippines, from which the enchantment of romance, beauty and love had dropped forever, leaving an arid desert of duty—because of Tom.

Opposed to Shopping.

The following placard is exposed in an Oxford street (London) store:

"Ameriannos will please take notice that this place is not a museum. It is a shop."

Some of the London papers say that this is intended as a hint to some Ameriannos who visit the shops and spend hours looking over and prying things, but never buy anything.

LA FOLLETTE BET A "BLUFF."

State Veterinarian Challenges a Fellow Welshman, Then Backs Down—Frank Roberts, of Barneveld, Iowa county, was seated in front of the Kirby house last evening watching the crowds go by when Evans D. Roberts, of Janesville, the state veterinarian, came down from the dining room and sat beside him.

Although both men bore the same name and first saw the light of day in Wales, they were strangers to each other, and met for the first time. They became involved in a pleasant conversation, introduced themselves, and the veterinarian said: "I believe I'm the only Welshman Governor La Follette has appointed to office."

"Yes," replied Barneveld Roberts, "and the Welsh are entitled to as much as some of the other nationalities that have fared a great deal better. Bob La Follette will never be renominated for governor of Wisconsin."

"That's where you make a mistake," replied the veterinarian.

"I'll bet you $200 to $150 on that proposition," exclaimed the man from Iowa County.

"I'll take that bet!" replied the veterinarian jumping up.

"All right, we will just go in here and put the money up with the clerk."

The men started for the desk when the veterinarian stopped short and said:

"I'll not put my money up in the hotel."

"All right. Let's go somewhere else then."

"I haven't the time just now," and with this the state official slipped away, and the little group of men that had overheard the conversation laughed and began discussing the incident.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Brothers of New Ameer Leave Kabul—Plans to Defend Capital.

London, Oct. 14.—According to official intelligence from the ameer of Bokhara, says a dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Daily Telegraph

"the brothers of Habib Ullah Khan left Kabul secretly with their partisans the moment their father died and therefore cannot be said to have acquiesced in the accession of their brother, Habib Ullah, indignant at their flight, has taken measures to defend the capital and sent strong detachments to prevent their return, or to endeavor to capture them as rebels. He has further resolved to ask assistance of Emperor Nicholas and the ameer of Bokhara."

As bearing upon the advice to the Daily Telegraph from St. Petersburg it is pointed out that Habib Ullah, in his letter to Lord Curzon announcing his accession, asserted that his younger brothers had sworn allegiance to him in a public durbar on the day the old ameer died.

Bombay, Oct. 14.—Orders have been received at Peshawar, India, for the immediate mobilization of two field hospitals.

CECIL RHODES A SICK MAN.

Suffering from Heart Disease and Said to Be a Physical Wreck.

London, Oct. 14.—Cecil Rhodes whose part in politics and empire-making is vividly recalled by the Schnadhorst letters, is living almost absolutely alone at a quiet hotel on a diet and with the attentions due a man who is seriously ill. There is no doubt that he is suffering from heart disease and is no longer the robust man of former times; yet he never missed a day this week at the office of the British Chartered South African company, burying himself in details and conducting long, tedious meetings without complaint or mention of his ill-health. After these duties, however, in the quiet of his hotel, he seems to become almost a wreck; "like a man liable to go off at any moment," as one of his few visitors said on coming out from his room. Usually Mr. Rhodes is supremely indifferent to public sentiment, preferring rather to ride rough-shod over criticism, but in the matter of the Schnadhorst letters he has expressed keenest desire to hear public comment. His efforts, however, have met with slight success.

Carlisle May Rise in Spain.

New York, Oct. 14.—A special correspondent of the Herald at Cerbere, France, cables as follows: Carlisle agents are overrunning the province of Larida. At a meeting of Carlisle chiefs held at a house in the Rue Fusterie, at Perpignan, under the presidency of Gen. Moore, it was resolved to enter Spain by way of Larida and begin the insurrection. Gen. Moore has left for Marseilles.

Trains Smash; Four Are Dead.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14.—Four men were killed and seven were injured in a head-on collision in a dense fog which made railroading dangerous on the Los Angeles & Pacific railroad. It occurred on the Colgrove branch of the road, near Sherman. All the victims were residents of Sherman.

Protection for "Auto" Drivers.

Many French automobiles have a large plate of plate-glass in a steel frame in front of the driving seat to protect the operator from dust and wind during fast work.

To Remain Sealed Until 1950.

A woman has offered the New York public library a remarkable gift. It consists of 1,000 menus, each from a different hotel or restaurant. Some are from Hungary, China, Japan and Russia. The donor stipulates that the menus are to be kept sealed until 1950, as it is her desire that the coming generations may see what their ancestors ate.
